Program Description

The Planning program is organized into two operational divisions: Long Range Planning and Development Review.

Long Range Planning Division

The Long Range Planning division creates and administers the City's long-range planning programs that establish the City's goals for the future and insures consistency between these long-range goals and City policy and financial decisions. This division is responsible for all city long-range planning programs: comprehensive planning, downtown redevelopment planning, annexation, special area plans/projects and general research.

The division devotes time to coordinating programs with other city departments and participating in policy development with other agencies such as the Pinellas Planning Council, Metropolitan Planning Organization, Tampa Bay Regional Planning Council and the Florida legislature. The planners assigned to special projects must also work with interested parties on these projects including citizens, boards, neighborhood groups and/or special interest groups. Approximately 60 percent of the division's work is devoted to special projects.

Current Work Projects

- ❖ Large ATA (Agreement to Annex) Effort to include almost 50 parcels
- ❖ Comprehensive Plan Amendments to implement HB 697 and SB 360 Directives (Unfunded Mandates)
- ❖ Urban Design Initiatives
- ❖ Conducting Special Area Plans for Selected Areas
- ❖ Processing Community Development Code Updates and Amendments

Development Review Division

The Development Review division reviews development plans at three levels: permit issuance, Development Review Committee (City staff), and Community Development Board (public hearing board). Its primary responsibilities are to provide information and training on the Community Development Code to citizens, neighborhood associations, realtors, and those involved with site design and building construction related professions. The division administers the code and reviews for compliance on all applications for development approval. This includes plats, building permits and lot divisions. Landscape, site design, and sign alternatives are discussed in great detail.

The division is also responsible for review of tree removal permits, tree protection during construction, landscaping, and site plan compliance after development plan approval. This process involves on-site inspection. This division will also perform special assignments such as corridor plans and landscape design.

Current Work Projects

- ❖ Streamlining the process by which applications are reviewed.
- ❖ Processing applications for Flexible Standard Development, Flexible Development, Sign Permit and Comprehensive Sign Program.
- ❖ Inspecting sites for landscape compliance prior to issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy Permit, and re-inspecting sites for continued compliance.

Program Description

The Code Compliance program is responsible for attaining compliance with a variety of City Codes and includes the following areas.

Community Standards Enforcement – This operation concentrates on a myriad of issues pertaining to the zoning and development regulations contained within the Community Development Code as well as more general property nuisance and prohibited activities as defined in the Clearwater City Code. Examples include landscaping, debris, overgrowth, illegal yard parking, graffiti and signage violations. Inspectors also investigate and gain compliance with the Business Tax Receipts process. The Code Compliance division also conducts neighborhood code “sweeps” in various areas annually to identify violations.

Sign Inspection and Enforcement – Since 1987, the City of Clearwater has targeted sign blight throughout the City. The goal is to enforce against illegal, non-permitted, and snipe/roadside signage in order to maintain the aesthetic appearance of the City’s commercial and residential areas.

Business Tax Receipts – Business tax receipt inspectors enforce the business tax receipt requirements for businesses as provided for by Florida Statutes and required by city ordinance. Annually, there are approximately 10,000 business tax receipt and registrations within the city. In addition to annual renewal periods, license inspectors conduct sweeps for the purpose of locating and notifying unlicensed businesses of the need to obtain proper business licensing.

Residential Rentals – The city has a residential rental compliance ordinance that requires licensing of residential rental units, including single-family residences.

Water Enforcement – The Code Compliance division enforces water use restrictions, which are designed to make the best use of valuable water resources.

The division strives to achieve voluntary compliance in all program areas through education. Absent voluntary compliance, code inspectors initiate enforcement either through abatement, presentation of cases to the Municipal Code Enforcement Board or to Pinellas County’s local ordinance violations (LOV) court.
